HIGH Quality LEAD
GENERATION

KALEIDICO

Kaleidico boasts 15 years of delivering exceptional design, development, and digital experiences to the web. Our team's creativity and innovative thinking have consistently put our clients at the forefront of new trends and opportunities in an always evolving digital landscape.

In the next several pages we seek to showcase the processes and team members that consistently deliver the best web experience through exceptional design, development, and marketing operations.

As we discuss our approaches and philosophies, I'm confident that you'll quickly get a sense of our precision, performance-focus, and excellence.

Section One

About Kaleidico

Founded in 2005

Kaleidico is a digital agency with hard-working, straight-talking, Detroit-hustling marketing and development experts who can help you create a compelling, intuitive, informative, and engaging experience for your website visitors.

Over the past 15 years, our services have generated millions in profits for our clients and exceptional experiences for their customers.

Section Two

Our Web Design Process & Approach

Designing Web Experiences is our Jam

Digital experiences get really sloppy without a disciplined, contextually aware design process.

Most frustrating website experiences are the result of a web development process that is devoid of user experience design - a site built to serve functionality, not the customer.

Kaleidico has developed a design process that uniquely blends decades of experience, exceptional talent, extensive collaboration and intense focus on organizational and user goals.

Collaboration as Partners

We do our best work when our Design & Development process works in an open and collaborative way.

We like to check-in frequently throughout our projects to make sure everything is moving in the right direction and stays in alignment with business goals.

We don't see a separation between our team and our clients – we are partners, on the same team, and adopt shared goals to create something awesome.

Discovery Phase

We start our projects trying to learn everything we can about you and your team, but we never stop there.

We also research and seek to exploit digital trends and opportunities affecting your industry and to the advantage of your customers and web visitors.

This process enables us to make better strategic and technical decisions later for both your users and your team.

Discovery typically looks like:

Stakeholder
interviews and / or workshops

Review and audit
existing website -
what's working,
what's not, are we
solving the right
problem?

Study your web
analytics - how are users coming to
and using the site?

Analyze your comparable organizations and industry-relevant web presences.

Our discovery is always documented in a collaborative way
to yield a consensus-based roadmap for our project.

Creative Brief

This becomes our project playbook.

We'll walk through this brief as collaborative partners.

Strategy & Design

After the Creative Brief, we start to construct the strategy and turn that plan into detailed steps for execution.

Taking each of our project goals, we workshop as a team to align goals to specific tactics and strategies to make sure that our solutions fulfill the overall project vision and will be executed efficiently and on schedule.

Strategy & Design typically looks like:

Sitemap - Reflects content strategy & user journeys.

Moodboard - Discuss look and feel as well as brand direction or consistency.

Wireframes - collaborate and test content flow, user experience, and functionality.

Design Mockups - Combine the final moodboard and wireframes into a definition and blueprint for the final website.

Functional Specification -

This is created in parallel to our design process. This becomes our development blueprint.

Development Phase

Once the design is complete, we transition to software development. This transition is facilitated through a formal design to development handoff - ensuring perfect clarity of the design and business vision.

Staging and development environments are created as well as a client-owned code repository to ensure proper code and architectural control.

Quality Control

During the Quality Control phase, the website is submitted internally to a combination of team members, some of whom have never seen the website before.

This diverse testing team of designers, developers, and account managers, equipped with a thorough test plan and process prepare the site for User Acceptance Testing (UAT).

User Acceptance is the last phase of development.

Your website is submitted to you for testing. We will collect, log, and fix all deviations from the design and functional specifications.

This is a process, that is often neglected by many agencies, is absolutely essential.

Recent Mortgage Lender Case Studies

Homefinity

Homefinity came to Kaleidico to transition them from a traditional branch-based mortgage lender to a consumer-direct digital mortgage company. Their previous website was built internally on a short timeline and didn't reflect their evolving brand.

Kaleidico worked with their team to launch a brand new digital platform that includes custom developed calculators, blog content, and mortgage rates. Since the site went live it has accelerated their business, shattering all historic benchmarks and records.

River City Mortgage

River City Mortgage, a traditional Midwest mortgage lender with multiple branches, was looking to grow its online mortgage marketing and consumer-direct mortgage lead generation.

River City Mortgage had unsuccessfully worked with other marketing agencies, but they never had the mortgage lending expertise to be effective. Kaleidico, with over 15 years of deep mortgage marketing experience, was a refreshing contrast. We came turn-key with proven strategies to generate mortgage leads quickly. No need for hand-holding or educating. We were able to immediately jump into crafting strategies and tactics to increase mortgage lead flow.

Our initial mortgage lead growth plan focused on three areas: sales process improvement, tactical website conversion optimization opportunities, and new traffic generation strategies to grow their online presence in the communities their branches serve and attract the customers they can best help.

Marquee Funding Group

Marquee Funding Group, a California private money lender, was looking to grow their owner-occupied mortgage lending with a consumer-direct mortgage marketing strategy.

Marquee initiated a competitive search for an agency with mortgage marketing expertise and discovered Kaleidico's unit positioning and experience. We began our relationship with a limited, 30-day strategy engagement.

From this collaborative process, Marquee and Kaleidico developed a growth plan that included three areas of focus: sales process improvement, tactical website conversion optimization opportunities, and new traffic generation strategies to grow their online presence and customer audience.
